2026 FALL CONFERENCE HONEY SHOW SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Partner With the Missouri State Beekeepers Association

Greetings,

My name is Erin Mullins, and I serve as the Honey Show Chairman for the Missouri State Beekeepers Association (MSBA). MSBA is a statewide organization dedicated to protecting and advancing the science and art of beekeeping across Missouri. We strive to provide high-quality education, resources, and events for beekeepers of all experience levels.

One of the ways we fulfill this mission is through our conferences, where we bring in renowned and leading experts to share the most up-to-date information in the beekeeping world today.

On October 17, 2026, during our Fall Conference in Springfield, Missouri, we will host the 2nd Annual Missouri Fall Conference Honey Show.

Our Fall Conference is expected to draw approximately 250 attendees from across Missouri, including hobbyist and commercial beekeepers, farmers, homesteaders, gardeners, pollinator advocates, and small business owners. In addition to in-person engagement, sponsors also receive visibility through MSBA's digital channels, including our newsletter, Facebook community, and website.

The Honey Show is one of the most popular and visually engaging features of the conference. It provides beekeepers the opportunity to showcase their knowledge, skills, and craftsmanship through judged entries in categories such as:

- Extracted Honey
- Beeswax
- Cooking with Honey
- Photography
- Artwork
- Needlework

The show is sanctioned by the American Honey Judges Association, a nationally respected organization dedicated to promoting excellence and consistency in honey show judging.
